Hockeys at Juarez are Effectively Disciplined

FROM Juarez recently, a correspondent says: The Juarez winter meeting of the hockey club was held at last, settled in the usual conditions, which are very heavy, due in no small measure to the fact that the club is very healthy. There is always a large number of money for any good player, and the play in fact is very heavy, due in no small measure to the fact that the club is very healthy. There is always a large number of money for any good player, and the play in fact is very heavy, due in no small measure to the fact that the club is very healthy.

MY WORST BLUNDER

There was one blunder that I perpetrated soon after I joined the Boston team that has me guessing even yet. I came so near getting away with it that if it hadn't been for a quick thinking coacher I'd have gotten by and won a game on it, without knowing it. The fact is that I didn't realize myself for some time that I had made a bone at all.

SCHOOL RIFLEMEN ARE IMPROVING STEADILY

The claim of Captain William C. Webb of the Salt Lake high school cadet battalion that his rifle team did better work at night was sustained by this week's targets in the national inter-city high school contest. The five boys to qualify out of the ten-man team all shot their scores after 7 p. m. Friday. Some of the boys did not appear at that time and when they performed yesterday forenoon their score was too low to count.

LADYS Y and Ooms, the two kindergartners performers which both scored in their second start at Juarez for the stable of Colonel W. E. Applegate & Co., were purchased by this firm at private sale from Catesby Woodford and Phil C. Chinn respectively. The former is named for the daughter of W. G. Yanke, long a partner as a bookmaker and interested in the racing ventures of Colonel Applegate, the alliance between the pair having been formed in California when the sport flourished there. Gladys Y and Ooms raced in their winning races like clever fillies. The former, a daughter of Miller, by Hindoo, is undoubtedly the best of the pair, but her stable companion, though on the small order, has a fine turn of speed, and if she grows to any extent with more age may develop into a race mare which will be a most useful racehorse of the type perhaps of more ability to go a route than any daughter of her sire Cesarion since the days of Fred Cook's high-class filly Minnie Adams, which proved good enough to score as a Derby winner and defeat good colts as well as high-class fillies in her time.

Special to The Tribune. WELLSVILLE, Feb. 1.—The Wellsville high school last night defeated the Lewiston high on Lewiston's own floor by a score of 37 to 20. This victory puts Wellsville at the head of the league, it having defeated Hyrum high school on January 25 by a score of 30 to 3. The Wellsville boys are now ready to open their season in the northern division of the State High School league on their open date, February 15. The lineup for last night's game: Wellsville: P. Maughan, R. Maughan, J. Glenn, W. Williams, W. Murray, K. Kerr. Lewiston: J. Kemp, J. Glenn, W. Williams, W. Murray, K. Kerr. Referee—Howard Leatham.

terio to the lower ranks during the short space of one season. If the Cubs do not finish "one-two-three," it will be because the old machine refuses to develop anything like the horsepower it is capable of, and at the same time because some of the other machines are speeded up a lot more than it looks as if they could stand on past performances. No man need suffer in the order of their finish last season New York does not look any stronger, and probably will not be much weaker than last year. McGraw has a hole to plug at short by enough to wreck almost any less versatile team. He may have found the plug.

THOSE baseball prophets who are predicting dire things for Chicago's Cubs, like fourth, fifth or ninth place for them at the finish of the coming pennant campaign, speak without intimate knowledge of the tremendous gap between third and fourth places in the National league, a wide fissure which has existed for so long that little short of a cataclysm can contract it to any considerable extent.

Speaking more concretely, the breaking up and reorganization of the West Side team can produce a lot of terrible things that have been forestalled without necessarily causing the Cubs to finish lower than third place at the end of the 1913 race. They can slump a lot before they will meet any of the occupants of the lower floors coming up, unless marked improvement is made in some of the five teams which for years have been fixtures around or below the .500 level in games won.

Proof of the foregoing statements are contained in the composite standing of the National league for the last nine years. It shows that three clubs in that circuit have greatly outclassed the other five during the entire period, and in that time two of the three winning teams have been almost completely made over.

In the nine years since peace has been firmly established there have been only three teams in the running each season, and those have divided all the pennants. They are Chicago, New York and Pittsburgh. New York bagged the bunting in 1904, 1905, 1911 and 1912; Chicago in 1906, 1907, 1908 and 1910, and Pittsburgh in 1909.

During that entire period those three
